

VALLEY FEVER SEMINAR SERIES Presents DAVID OJCIUS, PHD

Inflammasome activation by the fungal pathogen, Aspergillus fumigatus

David obtained his B.S. and Ph.D. from UC Berkeley, and was a researcher at the Pasteur Institute and professor at the University of Paris before moving to UC Merced in 2004. He does research on interactions between pathogens and host cells, focusing on the role played by receptors of the innate immune system.

Fore more information please contact Erin Gaab (egaab@ucmerced.edu).

Friday, April 18th 2014 1:00pm - 3:00pm Social Sciences & Management Building, Room 317 (Half Dome Room)